

THE PRESIDENT SPEECH FOR WELCOMING OF THE EXECUTIVE MEMBERS.

Ladies and gentlemen, esteemed members of the NTCF.

It is with great honour and humility that I deliver this speech to you. As a community of educators, as well as leaders, we are bound by our faith to service. During challenges and uncertainties, it is imperative that we reaffirm our commitment to our calling and the values that guide us.

As educators, we hold in our hands the power to shape the future. Each day we have the privilege of influencing young minds, moulding hearts and instilling values that will echo through generations to come. But let us never forget that this noble task extends far beyond the mere imparting of the knowledge: it is about nurturing the whole person, body, soul and spirit. We are not just educators, we are beacons of hope, catalysts for change, and ambassadors of love. Let us embrace this responsibility with unwavering faith and dedication, knowing that our work is not in vain.

As we embark on this journey, let us remember to draw strength from our faith. Let us lean on the promises of our Lord, knowing that He who called us is faithful to sustain us. Let our actions be guided by the principles of love, compassion, and humility, reflecting the very essence of the One we serve.

As members of NTCF, let us unite in purpose and solidarity, supporting one another on our shared mission to illuminate minds and hearts. Together, let us strive for excellence, seek justice, and walk humbly with our God.

May our words be filled with wisdom, our actions with grace, and our hearts with love as we continue to journey forward in the service of God and humility.

Stay blessed.

Thank you.
